

Supporting Social Emotional Growth

	The use of positive descriptive feedback increases the likelihood that children will engage in appropriate behavior. Try out these tips for using positive descriptive feedback in your home or classroom. #GaSEEDSforSUCCESS Positive Descriptive Feedback
	Kindness is a quality that children learn over time and through practice. Here are 12 ways to help your child practice showing kindness. #GaSEEDSforSUCCESS Teaching Kindness
	The consistent use of breathing techniques has many health benefits. To learn more about breathing techniques how to do them, check out this resource. #GaSEEDSforSUCCESS Benefits of Breathing Activities
	Some children will exhibit challenging behaviors to avoid an activity. Here are a few ideas you can use to teach your child how to appropriately request to end an activity. #GaSEEDSforSUCCESS Request to be Done
	Have you ever asked yourself the question, “Why is my child behaving like that?” For tips and strategies to figure out what your child’s behavior is communicating, take a look at this resource. #GaSEEDSforSUCCESS Understanding the Meaning of Challenging Behaviors