December 15, 2023

Greetings CACFP Sponsors & Institutions,

On December 7, 2023, Wayne Farms, LLC, a Decatur, Alabama, establishment, recalled approximately 1,377 pounds of ready-to-eat (RTE) chicken breast products that may be undercooked as advised by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food Safety and Inspection Service (FSIS). The Food Safety Alert Announcement can be found here.

The RTE chicken breast items were produced on October 16, 2023. The following product is subject to recall [view labels]:

- 9-lb. cardboard boxes containing 12 packs of three "CHEF'S LINE FIRE GRILLED CHICKEN BREAST" with lot codes of 3723289239002 and 3723289239003 with USE BY: 01/14/24 on the label.

The products subject to recall bear establishment number "P-20214" on the case label. These items were shipped to distributor locations in Illinois for further distribution to food service locations.

The problem was discovered when the firm received a customer complaint that the RTE chicken product appeared to be undercooked. There have been no confirmed reports of adverse reactions due to consumption of these products. Anyone concerned about an illness should contact a healthcare provider.

USDA advises that meal service providers check purchase records and inventory to determine whether these recalled products are in facility refrigerators or freezers. Per the recall notice, recalled products should not be served. They should be thrown away or returned to the place of purchase.

FSIS routinely conducts recall effectiveness checks to verify recalling firms notify their customers of the recall and that steps are taken to make certain that the product is no longer available to consumers. When available, the retail distribution lists will be posted on the FSIS website at www.fsis.usda.gov/recalls.

Consumers with questions about the recall can contact Jenny Ball, Director of Customer Care at Wayne Farms, LLC, at 678-450-3152 or jenny.ball@waynesanderson.com.

Consumers with food safety questions can call the toll-free USDA Meat and Poultry Hotline at 888-MPHotline (888-674-6854) or send a question via email
